Capt. Rupert Bartlett, '13-'14 Military Cross and Bar

We regret that we have to record.
the death of Captain Bartlett with the announcement of his winning both the Military Cross and Bar. He has been with the Ist Newfoundland Regiment since its formation and has acquitted himself with gallantry both in Gallipoli and France. Over a year ago, according to brother officers, he should have received a decoration that went to another who after the danger was over took over command of a position he had defended with great gallantry. On a later occasion however his bravery won for him the Military Cross and not long since a Bar as well. He joined the Regiment as a private and won his promotion in the field. He was a very gallant officer unusually popular with his men, a fact which might be expected by one who remembered his popularity in College. He was a brother of Captain Bartlett of North Pole fame and lived in Brigus, Newfoundland.

Lieut, Colonel Allison H. Borden, '03

Colonel Borden has recently been mentioned in dispatches by General Haig for "distinguished and gallant services and devotion to duty." Colonel Borden is Officer Commanding the 85th Battalion in France which has made a splendid reputation for itself in action. He will be remembered by Nova Scotians for the remarkable campaign by which he rallied the Nova Scotia Highland Brigade in a few weeks and the splendid eloquence of his public addresses. He was the leader of the first intercollegiate debate in which Mount Allison took part. Colonel Day '03, who commands another of the battalions of the Highland Brigade, the 186th, was also a member of that debating team and if our memory serves us right the subject had to do with the nature and wisdom of sending aid from Canada to the Mother Country in time of war. Colonel Borden has been wounded once while on duty.

Capt. Edwin E. Graham, '09, M.C.

Word has just been received that Capt. Graham has been decorated with the Military Cross though no particulars have been received. He has been overseas since early in the war as a Chaplain in the Canadian forces. He saw service in Egypt and in Galipoli and, if we are correctly informed, was present at the evacuation of the latter. He has written some most interesting letters and articles which have appeared in local papers, on his experience overseas.

Corporal Eric C. Dexter, Ac., '14-'15 M. M.

Corporal Dexter enlisted in July 1915, in the 164th Battalion in Toronto and eventually was promoted to Sergt. Mjr. After going overseas with his battalion he reverted to the ranks to go to France in the 58th Battalion. While with that battalion he was given the Military Medal for bravery on the field, having held a dangerous position with a body of men until help came. He has won promotion in the battalion to Corporal. Shortly before Christmas he received a scalp wound and is now in the Canadian Convent Hospital, Woodcote Park, Epsom, Surrey, Eng.

Lieut. R. E. McAfee, Eng., '08, M.C.

Lieut. McAfee has been awarded the Military Cross for conspicuous bravery on two occasions. On an occasion at the Somme in broad daylight he laid out a new trench connecting shellholes, a particularly brave piece of work in No Man's Land, since it had to be done in plain view of the enemy and under the handicap of the devastated condition of the country; but he succeeded admirably and after dash the working party was able to proceed with the work with no loss of time. His work was all the more admirable in that he was wounded in the face almost at the outset, but kept on despite his wound.

On a later occasion, after an attack by the Canadians during the past Spring, Lieut. McAfee went over the captured ground laying tapes for the evacuation of wounded, doing the work in spite of sniper by the enemy. Lieut. McAfee has been three times wounded. His brother, A. E. McAfee, '13-'15, is with No 1 Siege Battery.

Captain Cedric C. Ryan, '97-'11, M.C.

For a couple of years Captain Ryan has been in France attached to an Artillery Brigade. He was through the Battle of the Somme with a battery and was later attached to Headquar ters Staff as a Lieutenant. He was sent to one of the batteries just before Christmas and while there was promoted to Captain. It was during his stay there that his battery became cut off from communication for three days, and during that time Captain Ryan was in charge. He was given the Military Cross for his efficiency in handling the battery under trying conditions until help arrived. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ryan of Sackville, Mrs. Ryan with her brother, Charles Fawcett are the donors of Fawcett Hall.

Major Gerald G. Anglin, '14-'15

Military Cross and Bar

Major Anglin has been awarded a Bar to his Military Cross for his bravery in the attack on Passchendaele Ridge. He is in the 20th Battalion. As each commander was hit he took command, reached his objective and dug in. Unfortunately, while getting his position prepared for a counter at- tacking the Germans he was hit in the leg by a bullet fired by a sniper which fractured his leg in two places. He is now in Prince of Wales Hospital in London and expects soon to be invalidated home. This makes the third time he has been wounded. Major Anglin has an older brother Arthur, a McGill man in Architecture, who is at the Front with a McGill battery. A younger brother, Lyman (14-'15), was killed in action about a year ago, while his youngest brother lives in a Freshman at Mount Allison. His father, Dr. Anglin is Superintendent of the New Brunswick Hospital for the insane in St. John. His mother, Mrs. Anglin has been very active in war work in New Brunswick, having recently given a lecture in Sackville under the auspices of the Daughters of the Empire.

SICK AND WOUNDED

Major Arthur Chipman, Ac.

Major Chipman has recently returned to Canada on sick leave, having been wounded while on active service. He went overseas as second in command of the 244th Battalion from Montreal. When that battalion was broken up into drafts, Major Chipman gave up his rank and became a Lieutenant to get to France, being attached while there to a western unit. He is a brother of Capt. J. H. Chipman, '09-'10, Adjutant of the 16th Battalion.

Sergeant Karl Fletcher, Ac., '12-'14

Sergeant Fletcher enlisted in the 30th Battery in March 1915. He was wounded in the chest and leg at the Somme. After spending some time in England recovering from his wounds, he returned to France and was with his battery until he was shell shock ed at Vimy Ridge. He was then returned to Canada to recuperate and has latey been attached to the British and Canadian Recruiting Mission in New York. He spent a few days in Sackville on his way to New York.

Lieut. Henry C. Lewis, '16

Lieut. Lewis is attached to an Imperial Unit, the Innsiders Fusiliers, and is at present instructing in Ireland. Not long ago he was hit in the face by the accidental discharge of a blank shell, while instructing a recruit in rifle practice, which caused him to be sent to hospital for three weeks. Lieut. Lewis went overseas with the 7th Stationary Hospital and was with that unit until some months ago when he obtained his commission and was attached to his present command.

G. T. Bradley, Ac., '14-'16

Bradley was gassed by shells some time ago being one of thirty men so affected. He went overseas with the 6th Siege Battery. He is now in Maidstone Hospital, Maidstone Camp, Kent Co., England.

Gunner Wendell S. Carruthers, Ac., '14-'15

Gr. Carruthers was wounded recently by shrapnel and is now in an English Hospital. He enlisted in the 115th Battalion, was promoted to Lance Corporal, then to Serjt. Major, and later to Quarter Master Sergeant. In England, on the breaking up of the 115th, he transferred to the Army Service Corps, and later to the 6th Siege Battery. His brother, V. H. Carruthers, Ac., '14-'16, is in the 167th Siege Battery and another brother, Reginald Carruthers, Ac., '14-'16, is in the 286th Battalion.

Audrey S. Ferguson, '13-'14

Ferguson went overseas in the 131st Siege Battery. He has lately been wounded and is now in King's Own Convalescent Hospital, Bushy Park, Hampton Hill, London, Eng. We have not heard how serious are his wounds. His brother, G. K. Ferguson, '99-'15, is with the 104th Battalion.

Norman Clarke, '10-'11

Clarke was seriously wounded on August 27th in France, and is now in an English Hospital. He had shrapnel wounds in the face, arm and knee. Though his facial wounds were serious he is not badly scarred, thanks to excellent surgery. After his arrival he also underwent a very serious operation for mastoiditis.

Snowball Hicks, '15-'16

He enlisted with Signallers in Ottawa in June last with a number of other Mount Allison men and had elected to go overseas in a draft for the Princess Pats. Unfortunately, however, he fell from a street car in Ottawa and the wheels of the car passed over his head so that three of his fingers had to be amputated. The last heard from him was he was in St. Luke's Hospital in Ottawa.

Terence C. Lockwood, '16-'17

Lockwood, who is also with the Signallers in Ottawa has been in St. Luke's Hospital threatened with pneumonia. He is a son of Dr. T. C. Lockwood, '81, of Lockport, N. S.

Bombardier Wilfred Dawson, '15

Dawson is Mount Allison's latest appointment as Rhodes Scholar at Oxford. He is a member of the 8th Siege Battery. Recently he has been in hospital suffering with trench fever.

Lieut. Raymond Dill '12-'15

In an earlier issue we announced Lieut. Dill as suffering from an attack of meningitis. He recovered from this attack and went to France with a battalion and has recently been gassed. He is now in hospital in England.

Lieut. C. C. Langstroth, '13-'16

Lieut. Langstroth was wounded sometime ago in England by being struck by the propeller of his aeroplane as he was starting the motor. Lieut. Langstroth was first with the 14th Battalion and later transferred to the Canadian Engineers with whom he went overseas. In England he transferred to the Royal Flying Corps and has had a good record in that branch of the service.

R. T. Pike, '13-'15

Pike went overseas in 1916 from St. John's Newfoundland, in a draft for the 1st Newfoundland Regiment. He was in Ayr, Scotland, for some time and finally went to France in a draft for the Regiment. He was put in the convalescent hospital of which Captain Rupert Bartlett, '13-'14, M. C., was second in command. They had been classmates at Mount Allison. He was through the Somme campaign and went through the famous battle of Monchy in April 1917, when the regiment was so badly cut up, without a scratch but a week later when the regiment went into the trenches again he was wounded in sixteen places by shrapnel in the face and body and legs. He was three weeks in hospital in France, a month in the 3rd London General and five months in Brooklyn Hospital, London. In the latter he met Sergt. Malcolm Hollett '15, who had been wounded as already recorded in an earlier issue of the Record. Pike was sent home and finally discharged as unfit for further service and with the beginning of the present term has returned to Mount Allison to complete his course in Engineering, interrupted when he enlisted.

Sergt. R. Baxter Murcell, Ac. '13-'15

According to information received Sergt. Murcell has been twice wounded, the first time being in July, 1916. After recovering in a London Hospital he went back to his regiment, the 1st Newfoundland, and was again wounded. R. T. Pike, when he went to the 3rd London General Hospital found that Murcell was there also, recovering from his second wound.

Sergt. Barrett enlisted in Aug. 1915 in the 40th Battalion and after some time in training in Nova Scotia at Valcartier was promoted to Sergt. Major. While in the 40th. he was, for a time Platoon Sergt. under Captain Walter Pickup '14 who was later killed in France. Barrett went overseas in Oct. 1915 and reverted to the ranks to go to France. Shortly after arriving there he developed pleurisy and was sent to England where he spent several months in Hospital before he was able to do light work in the Pay and Records Office. He spent a year there but was finally sent to hospital again and later sent home unfit for further service. He came home on the S. S. Leeds which was wrecked on the Nova Scotia coast on the way out. After a couple of months in hospital he was honorably discharged and has come back to Mount Allison to complete his college work.

Raymond D. Styles

Styles enlisted in the 56th Battalion in Aug. 1915. In April 1916 he was sent to the hospital where he remained for several months until he was declared unfit for service and honorably discharged. For a year he worked in a munition plant in New Glasgow but in October 1917 he returned to college to complete his work interrupted by the war. There are, therefore, four returned men now at Mount Allison continuing their work—Styles, Barrett, Butler and Pike.
NEWS OF OUR MEN
Major Arthur L. Johnson '03 has recently received his Majority. He is in the Army Medical Corps.

Lieut. E. C. Hennigar, '02
He has been a missionary in Japan for about ten years and is now an officer in a Japanese working battalion now on its way to Europe via Canada. He was originally in another battalion but just as he was about to leave for overseas he was afflicted with blood poisoning and forced to await a later draft. Mrs. Hennigar who was Mary Hart '02, in the absence of Lieut. Hennigar is teaching in a School in Kobe, Japan. Two years ago they were home for a year, which time Lieut. Hennigar spent in study in Toronto University and in giving many missionary addresses throughout the East.

Major A. D. Carter, '13-'15
Major Carter has been promoted to the position of Flight Commander in the Royal Flying Corps. He went overseas in the 26th, was wounded, sent home and went over again as a company commander in the 140th Battalion. In England he was in command of a discharge depot for some time and finally he transferred to the Royal Flying Corps. He has evidently been successful in this branch of the service as well as in his former position.

Captain Stanley Smith '04-'07
Captain Smith has recently been promoted to his present rank. For sometime he has been in charge of a Signal Company in France. His brother Lieut. W. Grant Smith '14 is Transport Officer with a Forestry Battalion overseas. Their addresses are both in care of Manchester, Roberton and Allison, 5 Milk Street, London, England.

NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST
Visit of the Cumberland District
At the invitation of the President of the University, Dr. Borden, the members of the Cumberland County Nova Scotia District recently met for their Second Quarterly meeting in the University Residence, being entertained during their stay in town of a couple of days, by members of the Staff and friends of the Institutions. The express object in view in this new movement—it is proposed to continue the custom—is to bring into more intimate touch the laymen and ministers of the Methodist Church with the work and needs of the Mount Allison Institutions. Through the course of years a very large number of the ministers of the Nova Scotia Conference will have had the opportunity of visiting Mount Allison in this way and of noting the quality of the work as well. The members of the District visited the classes at the University, Ladies College and Academy during the day and during the evening a Supper was given in their honor in the Residence dining room attended by about forty guests at which brief addresses were given by various members of the Staffs of the Institutions and representatives of the District. An invitation has been given to the Sackville District of New Brunswick to visit the Institutions as did the Cumberland District and it is hoped that in this way the New Brunswick men may also be brought into closer touch with Mount Allison.

Professor Raymond C. Archibald, '94
Ph. D.
During the past year Dr. Archibald received a call to take charge of the department of mathematics in a Canadian University but declined. At the same time he was promoted to an Associate Professorship at Brown University, Providence, Rhode Island where he has been an Assistant Professor for some time. In May last he was elected a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Science in the section of "Mathematics and Astronomy," the number of Fellows in which is limited to forty. In September he read a paper to "Undergraduate Mathematics Club" before the Mathematical Association of America at Cleveland, Ohio. For two years he has been a member of the Council of this society and an associate editor of its official organ the American Mathematical Monthly. He has also been recently elected a member of the Council of another society, The American Mathematical Society, of whose journal he has been a joint editor for some time. In December he was elected a member of the American Association of University Professors.

Returned Men
Many people have wondered what effect the war would have on the college men who had left their work unfinished to enlist in the fighting forces. Some have thought that the out-door life, the freedom from close mental application to a sedentary task and the development of an adventurous spirit which perhaps goes with the life in the army would make it difficult, if not impossible, for those men to again settle down to a life of study. It has been feared, too, that they would not desire to again take up their college work. Time only will tell. It may be interesting to note, however, that we have at Mount Allison four returned men, Barrett, Styles, Pike and Butler, and that, apparently, these men have dropped into the routine of college life and work with the greatest ease. Judging from the quality of their work, they have returned to their tasks with an added seriousness and a keener appreciation of the value of a college course. Though their numbers are too few to give evidence of much value their example may be a hopeful omen.

University Sermon
The first University sermon of the college year was delivered by Rev. H. S. B. Strothard, '04, B. D., '08, Sunday evening, December 9th. Unfortunately one of the most severe blizzards of the winter prevented a large audience from attending, but those who braved the storm heard an excellent sermon. Mr. Strothard has a good voice, an earnest manner and his subject was well thought out. The future holds a bright prospect for him as a preacher.

Gift to the University
Readers of the Record will remember that Miss Emma Bakor, Ph. D., former Vice-Principal of the Ladies' College, last year gave to the University a gift of $1,000, the income from which is to be used in promoting the study of English Bible by University students. We are glad to announce that Miss Baker has recently supplemented this gift by an addition of $1,000, the income from which is to be used in the same way. Miss Baker's generous gift is greatly appreciated and will, we believe, promote the object for which it is given.
Mrs. D. W. Johnson, (L. C.), M. L. A.

Through an oversight we failed earlier to record the death of Mrs. Johnson, the wife of Dr. D. W. Johnson, the editor of the Wesleyan. Mrs. Johnson was formerly Miss Jennie Morse of Clarence, Nova Scotia. She was one of the early graduates of the Lade's College and always maintained a deep interest in its welfare. Throughout her life she maintained a love of good literature of which she was a constant student. Her home, to her friends was a pleasant place to visit; and her broad sympathy and kindly manner won for her many friends. Her husband, Dr. D. W. Johnson is a graduate of the class of '73. Two of her sons are also graduates of the University—Rev. Charles H. Johnson, '98, a member of the Nova Scotia Conference, and Major Arthur L. Johnson, '08, now in the Army Medical Corps in France. The sympathy of the Record is extended to the sorrowing family.

Professor F. W. Nicolson, '83

Professor Nicolson was born in Sackville, N. B., in 1864 and was graduated from the University in 1888. He later went to Harvard for further work and there obtained the A. B. and A. M. degrees. In 1894 he was granted the ad eundem degree by Wesleyan University. For a year he was a Tutor at Mount Allison and for four years an Instructor in Harvard University. In 1891 he was appointed to the staff of Wesleyan University, Middletown, Connecticut, where he at present is Professor of Greek and Secretary of the Faculty. He has been greatly interested in clean sport in the Colleges of New England and for several years was president of the Association of New England Colleges for Conference on Athletics and since 1908 has been Sec. Treasurer of the National Collegiate Athletic Association of the United States. From 1910 to 1915, he was president of the College Entrance Certificate Board and since the latter date Secretary of the Board. He has edited a number of works: The Phormio of Terence; The Plutus of Aristophanes; Catalogue of the Connecticut Gamma, Phi Beta Kappa; Alumni Record of Wesleyan University. He has been a contributor to various educational journals, Educational Review, School and Society, Sciences, Education, Harvard Classical Studies, etc. Professor Nicolson is a brother of C. B. Nicolson, '85.

Charles B. Nicolson, '85

Mr. Nicolson like his brother, Professor Nicolson, was born in Sackville, N. B., and was graduated from the University in 1888. He was educated in the public schools of Nova Scotia and at Mount Allison. Later he studied law at Dalhousie, becoming a barrister in 1890. Since 1900 he has been in journalism, having been, during that time on the staffs of various newspapers in Canada and the United States. For the past four years he has been editor of the Detroit Free Press, a paper of wide circulation and great influence in the United States. Mr. Nicolson has a son, a first lieutenant in the United States artillery, who has recently sailed for France.

Varley B. Fullerton, '96

Mr. Fullerton was a member of the Exemption Board under the Military Service Act for Parrsboro, Nova Scotia and vicinity. He has been practicing law there since his graduation from Harvard University Law School, a few years ago. Last May he was elected a member of the Board of Governors by the Alumni Society and will begin his term of office in January of the present year.

Freshmen Lectures

The series of "Freshman lectures" described in an earlier issue has been completed, William H. Irving '12 of Moncton, Rhodes Scholar at Oxford '14-'17 giving the last lecture, on the topic "College Friendships" on February 26th. The lectures have all been of a very high order. Some of them have been read, some of them delivered extraordinarily but all have shown the most careful preparation. The attendance of Freshmen has been required but many other students have attended regularly as well. A constantly increasing attendance from the beginning to the end has attested the appreciation in the minds of students of the value and interest of the lectures. That these lectures will help new students to find their bearings, and to place true values upon the many phases of college life; that they will give them practical help in forming decisions of great importance; that they will, in a word, aid in their orientation in College, is to us an assured fact. We hope that the lectures will form a part of our college work each year.

SAD ACCIDENT AT THE UNIVERSITY

On the morning of February 15th the body of Herman Jackson, a member of the Freshman class, was found in his night clothes on the ground below his window in the University Residence, with life extinct. He had been complaining of tooth ache for some time, and two days previous to his death had had a brief fainting spell but to those who visited him the evening of the night he was killed, he seemed quite well and cheerful and talked of going to see a dentist and of the hockey match of the following day. An inquest was held, which after examining many witnesses came to the verdict that "Herman Jackson came to his death by accidentally falling from his window in the Residence at Mount Allison University some time during the early hours of Friday, February 15th, and that no blame can in any way be attached to any one." His death will always remain a mystery. It has been suggested, that feeling faint, he had gone to the window for air and had fallen out while unconscious, but this is, of course, conjecture.

Jackson came from St. Martins, N. B. He spent a year at the Academy where he earned a reputation as a fine student of quiet disposition. He came into College a close second in scholarship to the Alumni Prize winner from the Academy and gave promise of doing good work in Engineering. A service was held in his memory in the Euchitsonian Hall after which his body
